Circumambulation, the name given by students of sacred archaeology to that religious rite in the ancient initiations which consisted in the formal procession around the altar or other holy and consecrated object or place, is as in our Order it alludes to the apparent course of the sun in the firmament, which is from East to West, by way of the South. The ancient Greek, in their rites of sacrifice, walked three times around the altar chanting a sacred hymn or ode and the priest always performed circumambulation by turning towards the right hand as he went around the altar. In performing this act, it was absolutely necessary that the right side should always be next to the altar thus providing a procession that would move from the East to the South, then to the West, next to the North, and afterwards to the East again.

The previous comments come from Mackey’s Symbolism of Freemasonry and are similar to our ritual, TH KYRTL, which was exemplified at our Leadership Educational Conferences. This presentation brought about much debate and in essence it teaches us that the Senior Deacon in particular should always move about the altar with his right side closest to the altar. That would mean that he would cross between the East and the altar when opening and closing the Great Lights as well as when conducting candidates. Can he do that? You decide. We have no standardized ritual in Kentucky, so if your lodge wishes to practice this form of circumambulation, you are certainly authorized to do so by one of the approved rituals of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, F&A.M.

I would like to take a moment and thank all who attended one of our 10 Leadership Educational Conferences throughout the Commonwealth and also those that made it a priority to attend their District Meeting over the past several months. I respect your Pride in showing your dedication to our Great and Gentle Fraternity. Now is the time to begin the process of making your Lodge more enriched with the Pride of being a Kentucky Freemason.

Pond Fork Lodge #601 held a Friend to Friend/Community Service Awards program on April 14, 2007. Attendance for the event was excellent, with approximately 55 people present, the bulk of which were non-Masons. Grilled foods and desserts were enjoyed by everyone in attendance.

The day’s events seemed well received by all who attended one of our 10 Leadership Educational Conferences. This presentation was exemplified at our Leadership Educational Conferences. GRAND MASTER’S MESSAGE

CARROLLTON MASONIC LODGE NO. 134 CORNERSTONE CEREMONY

When the Cornerstone Laying was complete the group traveled to Carrollton Middle School for their District meeting, where a good fried chicken dinner, mashed potatoes, green beans, rolls and apple crisp pie was had by all. All 15 Lodges were represented and The Masonic Homes of Ky handed out prizes to lucky participants.

Just recently I attended a luncheon and had the good fortune to hear an inspirational message by a motivational speaker. During his presentation, he recommended ten areas on which each person should concentrate each and every day, in order to enjoy life and improve their character. As the speaker gave an explanation of each of the ten points, he opined that a daily review of these points could not only be beneficial to each of us as a personal discipline—but would also be a very valuable asset to the officers elected to lead our lodges in the performance of our duties.

His order of suggestions is as follows:

1. Accept Responsibility (the accountable); Accept responsibility for your actions. There surely will be times when we make errors, or fail to exercise the best of judgment; however, we should not try to make excuses, or pass blame, but accept responsibility, and be accountable for our actions. Look upon an error in judgment as the opportunity to make the right choice in the future.

2. Live the full length, breadth, depth, and height of life. The combination of all the experiences that we endure each and every day. We need to live it out fully, balancing the negative and positive, and, hopefully, coming out favorably on the positive side of the equation.

3. Laugh every day. Someone once said that a laugh is an expression of the soul. I think all of us, at one time or another, has, at a tense moment in our lives, had that tension relieved by having a good laugh. And there is no doubt, laughter is contagious.

4. Stay focused on your blessings; we experience many blessings each and every day. If we spend too much time dwelling on the set backs and problems that come our way from time to time, then we may not fully appreciate the blessings that are provided us.

5. Learn to deal with the things that bug you, don’t let those things that bother you cause you distress. Learn to deal with them and set aside in order to concentrate on the better things of life you have to deal with.

6. Study the experiences of successful people both good and bad. This will be valuable to another lodge, should the one to which he is already committed. If one can assume and still remain faithful to their duties.

7. Take a vacation; not just once a year—but every day. We all know how refreshing we feel when we return from a yearly vacation. We need to have that feeling each day. So take a few minutes each day, a kind of mini vacation, and take a break to refresh oneself.

8. Keep learning. The rapid pace of technology is far from discouraging, only adds to the joy and excitement.

9. Always have hope. Hope is the driving force of the Universe. We should make abundant use of the gift we received from The Grand Architect of the Universe.

10. Accept the responsibility each day. We are accountable for, our actions. Look upon an error in judgment as the opportunity to make the right choice in the future.

Before the end of May you should have received a packet from the Grand Lodge Office containing:

1. A form asking for information on members you may have in the Masonic Homes of Kentucky.
2. A form certifying the representative of your lodge at our Grand Communication in October (in case the Master or one of the line Officers can not attend).
3. A post card for you to complete and return to this office.
4. Instruction sheet for checking Annual Returns.

It is very important that you take care of this quickly, to assure adequate time to review and record the results before Grand Lodge.

Landmark Lodge had the pleasure of presenting a 50-Year Service Award to Brother John Stephen Hogg of Landmark Lodge on February 19, 2007. Brother Hogg, we thank you for your dedication to Freemasonry and especially to Landmark Lodge over the last 50 years.

Brain fitness system combats dementia impact
Sally's Garden is first in Kentucky to offer [m]Power
A brain fitness system will help residents maintain brain health as well as combat the effects of dementia and Alzheimer’s disease.

The [m]Power system is fully automated, supplying a changing menu of activities scientifically designed to help fight memory loss and related ailments. The Masonic Home of Louisville is the first facility in Kentucky to offer the system.

"Mental stimulation helps keep the brain agile," said Administrator Israel Ray. "The [m]Power system combines decades of brain health research aimed at preventing or delaying memory loss with enjoyable activities that we believe will make a difference in helping residents become mentally fit."

[m]Power presents thousands of games, puzzles and other brain-building activities on a user-friendly touch screen. Exercises range from anagrams and name-that-tune challenges to TV-style scenes and narrated literary passages complete with special effects that include follow-up questions requiring use of short-term memory and deductive reasoning. "It feels like a game, but it’s really a rigorous workout for your brain," Ray said.

Initially one [m]Power system will be available in Sally’s Garden, according to Ray. "Research shows that successful aging requires ongoing mental stimulation," he said. "[m]Power is a unique system that keeps seniors coming back for more.”

West Kentucky Masons send Co-Plot to new heights
Since Grand Master Gregory C. Powell and First Lady Nancy began the Co-Plot in Caring program, thousands of Masons have contributed to benefit Sally’s Garden, the memory care neighborhood at Masonic Home of Louisville.

In western Kentucky, Masons have exhibited what the Grand Master and First Lady call exemplary airmanship in generosity. Masons in District 2 contributed $800 to help those with Alzheimer’s disease or other progressive dementia get the highest quality care at the Masonic Homes. District Deputy Grand Master Mitch Phillips secured additional gifts, making the district’s total gift to date $1,500.

Programs like Co-Plot in Caring help the Masonic Homes provide a mentally stimulating and nurturing home for residents with progressive dementia. With your support, the array of services in Sally’s Garden continues to grow (see Brain fitness system story on this page) enabling our residents to enjoy life more each day.

Thanks to your support of Co-Plot in Caring, the Masonic Homes makes a difference in the daily lives of seniors with Alzheimer’s disease and dementia.

Worth a thousand words
University of Louisville music student Allison Cross (left) and professor Sumner Birod (center) accepted a certificate from Sally’s Garden Program Coordinator Katly Wiedehof after spending a semester using music to help residents improve memory and facilitate communication.

Earn your wings as
